

ABSTRACT

A golf grip alignment device includes a body adapted to fit onto a golf club. The body includes a tab extending from the body and a seat defined on the body. The tab includes a surface adapted to receive the golfer's thumb. The seat is adapted to receive the golfer's index finger.